

for Graduate Students &amp; Young Researchers

Science Writing Skills

in English ONLY

Visitor Available

Registration Required

Presentation Skills Seminar

2019/ 1/16 Wed 13:10-16:00 17:30-20:20

Large Auditorium, 2nd Flr.

Lecture Room III, 1st Flr.

Science Bldg. #5

Clinical Medicine Lecture Bldg.

Researchers and Students from other universities are welcome to participate

There will be two sessions targeted for graduate students and researchers in Life Sciences & Medicine. (in English ONLY)
 Researchers and Students from other universities are welcome to participate.
 You may participate in only one session.

Session1 : Science Writing Skills

13:10-14:40 (Science Bldg.) / 17:30-19:00 (Clinical Medicine Lecture Bldg.)

In this session we will first discuss the principles of good science writing. Next, we will discuss the criteria used for journal selection, resources to aid you in selecting a journal, and methods of avoiding submission to predatory journals.

Session2 : Presentation Skills

15:00-16:00 (Science Bldg.) / 19:20-20:20 (Clinical Medicine Lecture Bldg.)

Nothing creates more fear among researchers than the need to present their work orally at an international conference. The Oral presentation workshop provides useful advice on preparing and delivering oral presentations. The instructor will discuss organization of your talk, slide preparation, mental preparation, time management, body language, and how to avoid "Death by PowerPoint", among other topics.

Registration

Max: Sci : 200 participants*Med: 100 participants*Presenter: Mr. David Kipler

Academic publication trainer &amp; consultant

Cactus Communications K.K

David Kipler is a specialist in biomedical communications for pharmaceutical companies, journals, and authors. His professional focus is helping researchers whose first language is not English to reach a larger audience. After receiving a BA in history from the State University of New York at Buffalo, David relocated to Japan and has been working with biomedical researchers there and in other countries for more than 20 years. He has long been involved in biomedical publishing and has served as language editor for several journals in Japan, including the Journal of Epidemiology.

<https://www.lib.hokudai.ac.jp/en/20190116seminar/>